Tellers for the meeting were faculty senators Harry Hilton (ENGR), John Prussing (ENGR), and student senator Sarah Hochman (ACES).

Chair Campbell read the following remarks.

I could have hoped for a more collegial and welcoming start to this year. The debate over the Professor Salaita issue has divided the campus and led to severe and un-collegial behavior. I call for faculty reconciliation in this difficult discussion. There must be respect on all sides for differing opinions and for the difficult tasks we ask our administrators to do. We must recognize that our statutes say that within the limits fixed by the Illinois constitution and laws, the Board of Trustees exercises final authority over the University. We must also recognize the power of the courts of law to resolve complex problems.

We must respect that, across our campus, there is a wide range of strongly held views about the Salaita case. Rather than letting our differences divide us and damage the Illinois community, we must build on our differences, and seek ways to bring the community back together to continue the business of the University and its pursuit of excellence with renewed purpose and spirit of collegiality.

I am dismayed at the current level of divisiveness that can arise in our community. Aggressive verbal attacks on either side are deplorable. Threats against individuals and their families are not to be tolerated. We need to stand up against categorical statements that try to silence debate, rule out intelligent discussion of issues, or force individuals into positions they do not wish to hold.

Speaking of statements that tend to rule out discussion...

In US higher education circles, a vote of no confidence is a specific action that affirms, because of corruption, incompetence, or mismanagement an administrator is deemed no longer to be able to serve in their post effectively. It is a call for them to resign or be fired.

While this may be the intention of some faculty voting for these motions, the wording of many of departmental resolutions suggests that the intended message is something else: a vehement disagreement with the Chancellor over her decision on the Professor Steven Salaita hiring. That is a legitimate protest, but it is not a vote of no-confidence. I believe that many faculty who are voting are expressing their strong disagreement and are wishing to convince the administrations to change course. It is not clear to me that their intention is to force the resignation of the chancellor.

There needs to be a clear distinction made between a resolution protesting a specific decision and a vote of no confidence which is quite a different thing and understood as such everywhere in the country where people see the action reported in the news media.

When a vote of no confidence is taken, OMA (Open Meetings Act) regulations need to be considered. The inconsistent wording, lack of public debate, and the refusal to release vote totals make this a highly irregular and misleading way to address such a crucial campus issue.

The Senate has established procedures and channels for looking at problems involving academic freedom and CAFT, our Committee on Academic Freedom and Tenure, is one such body that is looking at the issue of academic freedom and tenure and Professor Stephen Salaita. The Senate Executive committee found that there is a need to examine the procedures and mechanisms surrounding a faculty hire that might involve a late affirmation or revision of the hiring decision. No one is prejudging what that Task Force might conclude; one possible, legitimate outcome is that existing procedures are adequate and just need to be followed more consistently. I am concerned that people seem to have the misimpression that the Task Force is looking for ways to enable and encourage such decisions in the future, when exactly the opposite is the case. I think it is safe to say that on all sides of this dispute no one wants to find our campus in this situation ever again. Please let these committees perform the tasks the Senate has required of them.

Now I would like to proceed with our meeting because we have many important items to discuss.

09/22/14-04 Chair Campbell continued by making a motion to carry over any unfinished business at 5:15 pm to the next regular meeting of the Senate on October 20, 2014. The motion was seconded and discussion followed.

- 09/22/14-05 Faculty senator Diaz (LAS) made a motion to amend that any unfinished business at 5:15 pm carry forward to the following Monday at 3:10 pm in accordance with Standing Rule 1. The motion to amend was seconded and defeated by voice.
- 09/22/14-06 By voice, the original motion to carry any unfinished business at 5:15 pm forward to the October 20, 2014 agenda was approved.

Chancellor's Remarks

Chancellor Phyllis Wise feels honored to be the Chancellor at Illinois. This is a truly amazing place. Great scholarship and teaching excellence is clear in every corner. The mission of being the preeminent public research university with a land grant mission and global impact has a real possibility of being fulfilled.

Wise addressed the hiring recommendation of Stephen Salaita that did not go forward to the Board of Trustees (BOT) for approval. Over the course of the summer, Professor Salaita made a great number of comments on social media. Many people found these statements hateful and inconsistent with the kind of learning environment that fosters open discussion. The vitriolic nature of some of the comments gave Wise and President Easter misgivings about whether the hiring of Dr. Salaita would be in the best interest of this institution. Wise and Easter felt they needed to share this information and their misgivings to the BOT. Wise conveyed to the BOT that she could not recommend the BOT approve Salaita's appointment to the faculty. Wise and Easter felt it was very unlikely that the BOT would approve the appointment of Salaita.

Because of the timing involved, Wise felt she was responsible to contact Salaita as soon as possible to inform him that he was no longer being recommend for a position on the faculty at Illinois. In hindsight, I would have taken more time to consult with the Provost, who would have consulted with the dean and director of the program involved.

Wise has met with many faculty and students over the past couple of weeks, and plans to continue meeting with groups. There seems to be a broad spectrum of views on this decision and the topics of academic freedom and freedom of speech. This has become a national topic of conversation.

The hiring processes needs to be improved and strengthened so that approval from the BOT happens much more quickly and as soon as possible after the candidate has responded to an offer. And also well before the candidate decides to move here.

Academic freedom is the bedrock to this institution and to all of higher education. Academic freedom is neither simple nor universally understood. We do not believe in censoring and never will. We believe in fostering different backgrounds and will not tolerate discrimination.

Questions/Discussion

- 09/22/14-07 Chair Campbell made a motion to move into a committee of the whole until 4:20 pm to discuss a broad range of topics in the Chancellor's remarks. Chair Campbell will preside over the committee of the whole, comments will be limited to two minutes per person, and the privilege of the floor will be extended to all attendees. The motion was seconded and approved by voice.
- The Senate of the Urbana-Champaign Campus moved into a committee of the whole at 3:40 pm. Campbell noted that individuals may not yield their speaking time to another individual.
