Program Description and Justification

Justification for proposal change:

The Classics major has been in place for over 10 years with five ways to pursue the major- Classics major (major in Classics (without a concentration) and the four concentrations in Greek, Latin, Classics, Classical Civilization, and Classical Archeology. Recently, the department reviewed the requirements and found that the number of different concentrations is not effective in communicating to students required courses, often creating confusion among the different concentrations--for example, the number of credit hours, which varied from 30 to 36 across concentrations. Consequently, we are proposing to offer two new concentrations of 32 hours for each and eliminate the existing five concentrations. Our goals are to clarify and simplify the major requirements, making the information delivered to students clearer and more concise. From the three existing language concentrations (Greek, Latin, Classics), we are creating one concentration called Classical Languages; students can choose to focus on Greek, Latin, or both. From the two existing civilization concentrations (Classical Civilization, Classical Archaeology), we are creating one concentration called Classical Civilizations (wherein students can elect a track in Mediterranean Archaeology, or no specialization/track).

The existing concentrations are confusing to students who are often puzzled by having these different categories to choose from. It is our goal to streamline the description of required courses on paper and our website to make it clear to students what is required and supporting coursework. The two concentrations now give flexibility to students who can now acquire focus on a language or, if they choose, archaeology.

Is This a Teacher Certification Program? Yes

Enrollment

Number of Students in Program (estimate)

Describe how this revision will impact enrollment and degrees awarded.

_We believe this streamlining of the major concentrations from 5 to 2 will make things easier for undergraduates to follow. We believe this revision will attract more majors in Classics._
