Delivery Method

This program is available:
Online Only - The entire program is delivered online, students are not required to come to campus.

Describe the use of this delivery method:
The College of Education is adept at providing online graduate courses and these courses will be no exception. Online delivery allows for the participation of students globally and for stackable options towards other online programs in the College.
Institutional Context

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Describe the historical and university context of the program's development. Include a short summary of any existing program(s) upon which this program will be built.

Explain the nature and degree of overlap with existing programs and, if such overlap exists, document consultation with the impacted program's home department(s).

The University of Illinois has two decades of experience teaching Global Studies in Education at the graduate level. This certification builds upon that work and allows students to specialize within that field, developing practical skills towards leading internationalizing efforts at institutions. This certificate is housed within the same home department of Global Studies in Education and draws coursework from that program and will allow students to stack certificate credentials towards a masters degree in that department of EPOL.

University of Illinois

Briefly describe how this program will support the University's mission, focus and/or current priorities. Demonstrate the program's consistency with and centrality to that mission.

The graduate certificate in IEAL will train leaders to direct internationalization efforts, serving a global society through education. The certificate provides a stackable credential that will put students to work in the field of internationalization with excellence, bringing expertise to the profession and society overall.

Admission Requirements

Desired Effective Admissions Term

Fall 2021

Provide a brief narrative description of the admission requirements for this program. Where relevant, include information about licensure requirements, student background checks, GRE and TOEFL scores, and admission requirements for transfer students.

Admission will follow graduate admission requirements for EPOL graduate degrees, and course work obtained from this certificate will be stackable towards those degrees. Full admission requirements can be accessed here:

Admission requirement to EPOL degree programs is linked below.

Describe how critical academic functions such as admissions and student advising are managed.

Education Policy Organization and Leadership will manage all critical academic functions following the model of all graduate programs in the department. Admissions and advising will be managed by faculty with full support from the departmental staff as well as College level graduate programs staff.

Resource Implications

Facilities

Will the program require new or additional facilities or significant improvements to already existing facilities?
No

Technology

Will the program need additional technology beyond what is currently available for the unit?
No

Non-Technical Resources

Will the program require additional supplies, services or equipment (non-technical)?
No

Resources

For each of these items, be sure to include in the response if the proposed new program or change will result in replacement of another program(s). If so, which program(s), what is the anticipated impact on faculty, students, and instructional resources? Please attach any letters of support/acknowledgement from faculty, students, and/or other impacted units as appropriate.

Faculty Resources

Please address the impact on faculty resources including any changes in numbers of faculty, class size, teaching loads, student-faculty ratios, etc. Describe how the unit will support student advising, including job placement and/or admission to advanced studies.

Faculty in Global Studies in Education will absorb these students as a part of classes, and significant impact on class size is not expected. Advising will similarly be shared among faculty in this specialization, currently an active base of 6 faculty members resulting in a small increase per faculty. Job placement will occur through the career center as well as through the network opportunities afforded to students participating in graduate coursework with multiple professionals in the field of International Education. The certificate is stackable to advanced study in the department.
Library Resources

Describe your proposal's impact on the University Library's resources, collections, and services. If necessary please consult with the appropriate disciplinary specialist within the University Library.

An extensive library collection supports Global Studies in Education, so no further materials will be required for this certificate proposal.

Market Demand

What market indicators are driving this proposal? If similar programs exist in the state, describe how this program offers a unique opportunity for students:

No similar program exists from a University of Illinois caliber institution. Some organizations offer similar training, but they do not stack towards academic degrees in the way that this certificate will at Illinois. Nafsa is the primary organization offering this kind of expertise, but they are not linked to a research university so students are not afforded the opportunity to engage in research or in internships during the Nafsa training. This certificate offers a significant advancement to students to better their careers and stack the credit earned towards a masters degree.

Explain how the program will meet the needs of regional and state employers, including any state agencies, industries, research centers, or other educational institutions that expressly encouraged the program's development.

Discuss projected future employment and or additional educational opportunities for graduates of this program. Compare estimated demand with the estimated supply of graduates from this program and existing similar programs in the state. Where appropriate, provide documentation by citing data from such sources as employer surveys, current labor market analyses, and future workforce projections.

Our global society requires this expertise at every level of education P20 and in numerous organizations as well. Regional and state employers need global expertise provided by this program, and have hired numerous graduates from the Global Studies in Education degree programs. This certificate will provide funding for employees even at the entry level, increasing the availability of global expertise to employers.

What resources will be provided to assist students with job placement?

Students will have full access to the career center, but in addition, the professional network gained by participating in Illinois graduate level courses is a primary source of job placement opportunities globally.

International Education Administration and Leadership (IEAL) Campus Graduate Certificate requires 12 credit hours to complete. International Education Administration & Leadership certificate of specialization trains professionals to lead, develop, implement and evaluate international programming and internationalization activities in business/industry and education sectors, including postsecondary settings, in both private and public sectors. Students may choose from among the courses listed to specialize in any of the areas of internationalization, and may elect a global education abroad program and/or an internship in order to develop expertise in a particular region or skill set.

Students are admitted to International Education Administration and Leadership (IEAL) Campus Graduate Certificate after completion of a bachelor’s degree. Students in the certificate program are required to maintain University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and cumulative grade point averages of 3.0 to maintain a good academic standing.
The institution has a long history of training international education specialists through Global Studies in Education and other related programs. Indeed, the institution itself is renowned for its own international education programing and leads the world in innovation in this field. The Certificate allows students to document specific expertise for employers by highlighting participation in skill building and practitioner focused coursework.

Because IEAL is an existing specialization within Global Studies in Education in EPOL, it does not require additional resources or faculty and instead, draws from existing coursework. If the Certificate attracts a larger number of students, revenue from the program itself could be used to augment the faculty and staff required.

PROGRAM TUITION WAIVER POLICY PROPOSAL

Proposals to establish or revise tuition waiver policy for a graduate program will follow a shared governance approval process (Department, School, College, Graduate College).

Definitions of Tuition Waiver Policy Designations:

Traditional Programs. Programs either designated as generating full or base-rate tuition waivers. Base rate waivers waives only the Resident Graduate Base tuition amount. Non-Residents or students in a program with an additional tuition differential will be responsible for the remaining portion of tuition.

Reimbursable Programs. Programs identified as programs that would be reimbursed from an appointing unit outside their academic college.

Cost-recovery and self-supporting programs. Students in approved cost-recovery and self-supporting programs are not eligible to receive tuition and fee waivers except statutory waivers. Students in these programs are not eligible to hold a waiver generating graduate appointment (Assistantship or Fellowship). Full time employees may be admitted to these programs, but their employee waiver is not eligible for use towards a program with this designation.

Additional information related to these tuition waiver designations can be found here: http://www.grad.illinois.edu/gradhandbook/2/chapter7/tuition-waivers#otherprovisions.

Self-Supporting Status Request Justification for CERT in IEAL

Response

Describe the reasons for this request and explain: (a) the pros and cons of the classification requested, and (2) how the requested classification will benefit and not adversely affect the academic quality of the program.

>> EPOL is requesting the self-supporting program status for the proposed Campus Graduate Certificate in International Education and Administration Leadership (IEAL) in order to serve additional students above and beyond the resources provided by the state while fulfilling demonstrated higher education and workforce needs. Currently, there are populations of working adults not served by IL state-supported programs who would be willing to enroll in self-supporting programs.

(a) In terms of pros and cons, the requested self-supporting program status will receive no state-support; however, it has the potential to generate resources that would enhance the quality, access, and affordability of academic programs. We anticipate the self-supporting program can generate revenues to provide additional support for graduate students and students in state-supported programs at EPOL.

(b) In terms of benefit, we anticipate the proposed CERT to serve a non-traditional population, such as full-time employees, mid-career professionals, international students, and/or students supported by their employers. EPOL, through decades of offering graduate education to non-traditional students, has accumulated extensive experience in maintaining the rigor and quality of self-supporting programs for our students. EPOL has also learned that non-traditional students served by self-supporting programs could enrich EPOL learning communities through their extensive professional experiences.

2. Describe the expected impact of the requested classification to new students. How will these measures affect the affordability of the program? What type of financial aid, if any, will be offered? Note: Continuing students will not be affected as they are subject to the rules in effect at the time of their admission.

>> The requested self-supporting program status will enable EPOL to assess tuition with a lower rate than that of traditional programs. Additional fees for on-campus services, common for traditional programs, are not applicable to students taking online courses only. In addition, new students enrolled in the proposed CERT with self-supporting status will be eligible for financial aid since the proposed CERT requires students to take at least 10 weeks of instruction per semester (i.e., at least two 8-week courses per semester). Overall, the self-supporting status will make the proposed CERT program more affordable than traditional programs.
3. What provisions will be made to communicate the implications of the classification to prospective and newly admitted students?

>> For the proposed CERT requesting the self-supporting status, EPOL will follow existing marketing and promotional practices that have been in place for recruiting new students into our existing online degree programs with self-supporting status. Transparency is our guiding strategy in communicating implications of self-supporting status to our prospective students. All pertinent information related to assessed tuition rate and financial aid eligibility will be available via webpages, printed promotional materials, email correspondences, and phone calls with EPOL faculty and staff.

4. Name the college and program contact persons in charge of implementing and communicating the classification and its consequences to students.

>> Wenhao David Huang, Co-DGS at EPOL
>> Laura Ketchum, Business Manager, EPOL
Yes, that is fine. The emphasis in 433 and 446 is US classrooms, so I hope that is ok.
