6. SENATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CHAIR'S REMARKS

Faculty senator and Chair of the Senate Executive Committee (SEC), Angela Lyons (ACES) welcomed senators to the final meeting of the academic year and thanked members for their continued service and engagement. She noted several accomplishments of the Senate during the past year and expressed appreciation for the work of senators, committee members, and campus leadership.

Chair Lyons highlighted the inaugural Shared Governance Leadership Retreat, which brought together Senate Executive Committee members, Senate committee chairs, and university leadership to strengthen shared governance and support new leaders. She expressed hope that the retreat would become an annual event and that future efforts would include a formal onboarding process for new senators.

She provided an update on the Ninth Senate Review Commission (SR9), noting that the commission had submitted a report to the Senate Executive Committee (SEC) that included recommendations regarding the honorary degree awards process. The commission will continue its review over the summer and is expected to present its final report to the Senate in the fall. Chair Lyons thanked the commission members, particularly Chair Nolan Miller, for their extensive work.

Chair Lyons also reviewed several initiatives undertaken during the year, including:

- Inviting standing committee chairs to provide regular presentations to the SEC and administration regarding committee activities and priorities.
- The Senate's coordinated review of the proposed revisions to the Policy on Integrity in Scholarly Activities (OT-393) through the Senate Committees on Academic Freedom and Tenure (AF), General University Policy (GP), and Research Policy (RP).
- The Senate's partnership with the Office of the Provost to co-host the Navigating AI Together: Conversations on Teaching, Research, and Responsibility event, which had more than 360 attendees.

- Ongoing work by the Senate Committee on Information Technology (IT) to develop institutional guidance on artificial intelligence (AI) for teaching and research.

Chair Lyons further noted efforts to strengthen communication between the Senate and academic units through meetings with college leadership and the introduction of regular Senate briefings. She encouraged senators to continue engaging colleagues within their units and to build on these efforts.

Chair Lyons reflected on the meaning of shared governance, emphasizing that it requires a shared responsibility between the Senate and administration. She encouraged senators to view the Senate not only as a body that responds to administrative proposals but also as a proactive forum for thoughtful discussion of significant issues facing the University. She encouraged returning senators to continue fostering constructive dialogue on matters affecting the institution and to strengthen the Senate's role as a trusted venue for campus-wide discussion.

Chair Lyons concluded her remarks by recognizing the dedication and service of Senate committee chairs, members of the Senate Executive Committee, the Senate parliamentarians, and the staff of the Office of the Senate. Chair Lyons thanked all senators for their service and encouraged them to continue supporting the University's shared governance mission.

7. PROPOSALS

a) SP.26.05, Revision to the Bylaws, Part B.8 – Part B.9 (committee chair vacancies)

On behalf of the Senate Committee on University Statutes & Senate Procedures (SP), Chair Shawn Gilmore introduced and moved approval of SP.26.05. Chair Gilmore noted that the proposed amendment clarifies the provision addressing committee membership when an individual is no longer a member of the electorate from which they were elected. A new provision addresses committee chair vacancies, codifying current practice where the committee may designate a chair pro tempore from among its elected members until the Senate elects a new chair. If the committee is unable to designate a chair pro tempore, the SEC may do so. The chair pro tempore would exercise the same authority as the elected chair. No discussion followed.

By a show of hands and Poll Everywhere, the motion to adopt SP.26.05 was approved, with 154 in favor, 0 opposed, and 0 recorded abstentions.

b) SP.26.15, Revision to the Bylaws, Part D.4 – Committee on the Budget (membership)

On behalf of SP, Chair Shawn Gilmore introduced and moved approval of SP.26.15. Chair Gilmore noted that the proposal updates the ex officio position of Provost's designee on the Senate Committee on the Budget (BG) to the Senior Vice Chancellor for Finance and Administration. Aimee Heeter currently holds this position and has been attending committee meetings in this capacity.

By a show of hands and Poll Everywhere, the motion to adopt SP.26.15 was approved, with 151 in favor, 3 opposed, and 3 recorded abstentions.

c) SP.26.02, Proposed Revision to the Statutes, Article II, Sections 3a(1) and 3a(2) – Faculty Role in Governance (ST-91)

On behalf of SP, Chair Shawn Gilmore introduced SP.26.02 for a fourth reading and potential vote. Chair Gilmore noted that the proposed amendment to Article II, Section 3 of the Statutes concerning the role of faculty in University governance and the definition of faculty used throughout the Statutes. He explained that the proposal originated with the Chicago Senate and had been considered by SP throughout the academic year, including discussion with the Senate and review by the Senate Committees on General University Policy (GP) and Academic Freedom and Tenure (AF). The comments from GP and AF, as well as an alternative proposal from GP, were provided as background materials.

Gilmore reviewed the proposed changes, which would recognize specialized faculty titles used at Urbana, clarify the authority of academic unit bylaws to establish minimum rank, title, or percentage-appointment requirements for specified faculty privileges and governance roles, and clarify the inclusion of associate titles and the term "emerita." He noted that SP did not recommend including provisions concerning faculty voting on appointments and promotions, as those matters are addressed elsewhere in the Statutes and could create complications in practice.

Gilmore noted this was the fourth Senate reading of the underlying matter, although the proposed language was being presented for the first time. He also reported that one member of SP voted against the proposal on the grounds that the matter specified too much detail in the Statutes, while the remainder of the committee supported it. The Springfield Senate had also approved a version of the proposal with some differences in language. Discussion followed.

During discussion, senators asked about the effect of the proposal on existing unit-level distinctions, the inclusion of postdoctoral research associates, the use of modifiers with faculty titles, and the term “seniority.” Faculty senator Jenkins (FAA) moved to amend SP.26.02 by removing “seniority” and inserting “title” on line 16. The motion was seconded, and additional discussion followed regarding the potential implications of removing the term “seniority.”

By a show of hands and Poll Everywhere vote, the motion to amend SP.26.02 was approved, with 91 in favor, 24 opposed, and 42 recorded abstentions.

During discussion, senators asked about the effect of the proposal on existing unit-level distinctions, the inclusion of postdoctoral research associates, the use of modifiers with faculty titles, and the term “seniority.” A senator moved to remove “seniority” from the provision concerning requirements that academic unit bylaws may establish for specified faculty privileges. The motion was seconded and, following discussion regarding the potential implications of removing the term, was approved by a vote of 88 yes, 24 no, and 40 abstentions.

Discussion returned to the main motion as amended, including questions about whether additional flexibility could be provided for units to establish criteria beyond rank, title, or percentage appointment. Chair Gilmore explained that SP could be directed to consider additional language, which would defer further consideration to the fall. He also clarified that the three senates would each forward their respective versions to the University Senates Conference (USC), which would work to reconcile the differing language before returning a proposed final version to the three senates for consideration.

Gilmore noted this was the fourth Senate reading of this item, although the proposed language was being presented for the first time. He also reported that one member of SP voted against the proposal because the item specified too much detail in the Statutes, while the remainder of the committee supported it.

By a show of hands and Poll Everywhere, the motion to adopt SP.26.02 as amended was approved, with 127 in favor, 9 opposed, and 18 recorded abstentions.

8. PUBLIC COMMENT

a) Updates on the Proposed Kingfisher

Averhy Sanborn, President of the King’s Guard RSO; Vijay Shah, Advocacy Director for the King’s Guard RSO; Klaudia Babel, President-Elect of the King’s Guard RSO; and Ani Apresyan, Member of the University YMCA's Student Board, provided public comment focused on support for adopting the Kingfisher as the University's official mascot. Speakers cited student, faculty, alumni, community, and Native organization support; expressed concern about the continued presence and impact of the former mascot; and urged the University to engage in further discussion and take action toward adopting a new mascot.

9. CHANCELLOR'S REMARKS

William Bernhard, Executive Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, shared remarks on behalf of Chancellor Charles L. Isbell, Jr.

Bernhard provided updates on federal advocacy, immigration enforcement concerns, financial aid, strategic planning, and recent University accomplishments. He reported that the University is monitoring reports of possible federal immigration enforcement and has confirmed with local law enforcement that no federal enforcement activity is expected on campus or in the community at this time. He also discussed anticipated changes to federal financial aid programs beginning in 2026–2027, including the elimination of Grad PLUS loans and new limits on Parent PLUS loans, noting that the changes could affect a substantial number of students.

Bernhard reported that the Illinois Leads strategic planning process had completed its focus groups and surveys, with more than 600 faculty, staff, and students participating in focus groups and approximately 8,000 survey responses received. He also noted plans to continue conversations about AI and higher education following the recent Navigating AI event co-sponsored by the Senate and Office of the Provost.

Additional updates included the expansion of the Illinois IBM Discovery Accelerator Institute, the establishment of the Landuyt Center for Entrepreneurship, and the Cancer Center at Illinois receiving National Cancer Institute designation as a basic cancer center. He also recognized three Illinois faculty members elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and two faculty members awarded Guggenheim Fellowships. Bernhard announced three upcoming Provost Fellow opportunities focused on student learning, public engagement, and intellectual freedom.

Bernhard concluded by encouraging faculty and staff to make use of University well-being resources during a potentially stressful period and expressed the administration's appreciation for the Senate's contributions to shared governance and University policy.

10. QUESTIONS FROM SENATORS

Faculty senator Harley (LAS) asked about the donor-funded Provost Fellow for Intellectual Freedom initiative, including the identity of the donors, the goals of the initiative, and the distinction between “intellectual freedom” and “academic freedom.” Vice Provost Bernhard did not have the donors’ names available but was confident the initiative did not come with specific strings attached. He noted that the initiative’s scope and terminology were still being developed and would include consideration of intellectual freedom, academic freedom, and intellectual engagement.

Faculty senator Stirek (FAA) raised concerns about the timing of non-reappointment notifications for specialized faculty, particularly international faculty whose visas may expire when their appointments end. She described the potential consequences of late notification and asked whether the University had considered the downstream effects of the timing or the use of one-year terminal contracts to provide additional transition time. Vice Provost Bernhard acknowledged the issue and said changes in the federal immigration landscape warranted consideration of the timing of non-reappointments. He anticipated that the issue would be discussed by the administration and at the bargaining table with Non-Tenure Faculty Coalition (NTFC).

Faculty senator Hale (EDUC) raised concerns about the effectiveness of shared governance, citing instances in which Senate input appeared to be advisory or dismissed on significant issues. He encouraged senators to consider ways to strengthen faculty collective voice outside the Senate and referenced faculty unionization efforts.

Faculty senator Somerville (LAS) asked about the status of the Title VI task force report charge by the Office of the Provost. Vice Provost Bernhard stated that the task force had submitted its report and that Provost John Coleman was reviewing the recommendations before distributing the report more broadly. He did not have a specific date for its release but anticipated it would be soon.

Faculty senator Stojanoska (LAS) raised concerns about the University’s approach to artificial intelligence (AI) and referenced recent findings from an American Association of University Professors (AAUP) Committee on AI and the academic professions. She highlighted the need for comprehensive professional development about AI, discussion of its labor implications, and localized policies addressing faculty and academic workers’ day-to-day concerns.

Student senator Nagorski (ENGR) raised concerns about student representation and participation in the Senate. He noted unfilled student Senate seats, references to the body as the “faculty Senate,” and the tendency to address senators as faculty. He emphasized that students are members of the Senate and that their time and participation should be appropriately recognized. SEC Chair Lyons apologized and invited Nagorski to continue the conversation with her and the SEC. Clerk Roether noted that the Ninth Senate Review Commission (SR9) is soliciting feedback and encouraged senators to complete the SR9 survey.

Faculty senator Roseman (LAS) discussed SR9’s review of the honorary degree awards process. He cited a previous situation in which Senate leadership learned of an honorary degree controversy through media reports and noted that some public statements contained factual inaccuracies. He emphasized the importance of improving communication between the administration and Senate so that the Senate is informed before controversies become public and inaccurate information is not perpetuated.

Student senator Fellingner (FAA) raised concerns about student vacancies on Senate committees and the Senate Committee on Committees’ role in selecting committee members.

Vice Provost Bernhard acknowledged the concerns raised about shared governance while also emphasizing instances in which shared governance had produced better policies and outcomes. He suggested examining both successful and unsuccessful examples to identify practices that contribute to effective collaboration, particularly communication. He connected this work to the challenges posed by AI and broader technological changes that have transformed access to knowledge and the role of higher education. Vice Provost Bernhard stated that addressing these changes effectively will require continued collaboration between the administration and the Senate.
