Dear Marian:

By this letter, I am requesting that you take the appropriate steps to discontinue listing the Certificate of Advanced Studies (C.A.S.) in Music Education and also the M.S. in Music Education. These programs have not been active for many years. The former has a somewhat interesting history in not having been formally approved, although it was submitted and accepted for accreditation by NASM long before my arrival on campus. The M.S. is the predecessor of the Master of Music Education (M.M.E.) in which we currently enroll students. Its counterpart at the undergraduate level was the B.S. in Music Education, which we have also abandoned in favor of the B.M.E. These changes took place some time in the 1990's.

Please let me know if you need additional information or if there are questions concerning this request.
Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dr. Edward Rath, Associate Director
